Local Area Information

Cilan Caravan Park is located on the outskirts of the picturesque village of Llandrillo, Denbighshire, North Wales within the breathtaking scenery of the Dee Valley between Bala and Corwen.

The area provides visitors with ample opportunities to enjoy peace and solitude and is a walkers paradise with the Berwyn and Snowdonia mountains close by.

Many of North Wales best loved destinations are within an hours drive - Betws Y Coed, Barmouth, Llandudno to name a few.

The attractive market town of Corwen is set in Denbighshire's rural heartland in the stunning countryside of the Dee Valley.

Set around the market place, the town was also important as a staging post and for Drovers taking their livestock to market over the boarder in England. Its long history started with the Iron Age hill fort at Caer Drewyn, and included associations with the colourful lives of medieval Welsh Princes such as Owain Glyndwr who lead a revolt against the English in 1400.
